

SOUP'S ON @ SOUPALICIOUS DUKE Heights This Sunday

Bring your appetite and your own spoon for SOUPALICIOUS DUKE Heights this Sunday. It'll be a soup-erb, outdoor harvest celebration from noon – 3pm within the North-West parking lot of the Champagne Centre (by Finch Avenue, west of Champagne Drive), sponsored by the DUKE Heights BIA.

You, your family and friends will be treated to a soup-er feast of soups featuring this year's cream-of-the-crop harvests. And as you "sip, slurp and savour", you'll be listening to great LIVE MUSIC as well as have corn to enjoy, with all of this free, thanks to the community support from the members of DUKE Heights BIA (Business Improvement Association). An arts & crafts area as well as face painting will also be on the menu and, for the first one hundred families, there will be a free pumpkin to take home for Thanksgiving and Hallowe'en festivities ahead.

Come for this soup-erb, zero-waste, free community harvest celebration.

DUKE HEIGHTS BIA is an association of more than 2500 businesses located in the area between Keele Street and Dufferin Street and between Steeles and Sheppard Avenue West. The BIA strives to engage in and maintain sustainable development through its own programming and partnerships that protect and enhance the environment and well-being of the neighborhood.

Plant-Grow-Share a Row encourages gardeners to plant an extra row of veggies to donate to their local food bank, helping provide fresh, locally-grown produce to folks-in-need. SOUPALICIOUS was created as the program's harvest celebration, helping local groups raise awareness and support for their food-growing and -sharing programs. Both programs are supported by The Compost Council of Canada, the national non-profit organization dedicated to advancing organics recycling and the return of organic matter back to our soils for ongoing health and vitality.
